November : Gardening and Landscape Tips:

Lawns—Rake leaves off grass* to prevent mold and smothering. Fertilize lightly* with a slow-release winter formula —it helps root growth before dormancy.

Trees & Shrubs Water* before the freeze: Give your trees and shrubs a deep soaking early in the month if the ground isn't frozen yet. Prune lightly*: Remove dead or diseased branches, but save major pruning for late winter or early spring when plants are fully dormant. Plant dormant trees and shrubs*: If the ground is still workable, November is a good time to plant bare-root or container-grown natives.

Perennials & Flower Beds Add mulch*: Apply 2–4 inches of bark chips, straw, or shredded leaves around perennials to insulate roots. Divide and transplant* late-blooming perennials now if the soil isn't frozen.

"New" Burn Permit Requirement:
